

Über uns

DMG is a middle-sized producing family business which finds itself in a disruptive transformation of its product portfolio from analogue to digital.

With our strong innovation power and our freedom to take our entrepreneurial decisions independently, our goal is to be a reliable digital trendsetter in the dental industry: from cloud-based software and 3D printers to post-processing units and materials.

Feel free to join our team if you like to take part in this challenge.

Ihre Aufgaben

- You play an important role in the development of our existing software DentaMile connect, the cloud-based software which ensures that the workflow in medical device production is both safeguarded and validated.
- If frontend or backend – you implement change requests of the product owners on either parts.
- With your desire to improve our application you coordinate the development with the product owner and the specialist department.
- Within a small team of IT specialists, product developers and product managers you are a cooperative and supportive team player.
- You keep an eye on new technologies and trends and evaluate them for our projects independently.

Ihr Profil

- You hold a university degree in computer science or have a comparable training.
- You are experienced working with Java and Javascript, first experience with React and Redux + HTML5, SCSS or Spring Boot is a plus.
- Ideally, you have an initial understanding of cloud technologies, e.g. B. Azure as well as Kubernetes and Docker.
- You enrich our software development with your concept thinking skills.
- Experience with microservice architectures and basic understanding of CI/CD and test automation is a plus.
