

GETINGE
GETINGE GROUP

Control panel area featuring a digital display screen, several indicator lights, and a keypad with directional buttons.

A small rectangular control module, possibly a pressure sensor or a secondary display, located to the right of the main control panel.

Technical specifications and safety information label affixed to the right side of the machine's control panel.

The main chamber of the autoclave, which is currently open, revealing a metal tray and a perforated basket inside. A red emergency stop button is visible on the left side of the chamber door.

